Editor's Word

The latter half of this year we were focusing on organising Eco Art Festival. We will have to rearrange our activities schedule, postponed our Tree Planting event from 30 July, 5 November to 24 November to meet the demand of Eco Art Festival. I have decided to combine the content of enewsletter of Oct 2016 & Jan 2017. This will maintain the number of pages for the enewsletter as well.

Message from the Managing Director

Following the many years of experience in promoting eco awareness, we think it is time to take another approach to promote green practices awareness i.e. through art. We believe art will play the complementary role to create awareness on environment protection.

We will introduce the concept of Made In Earth –bringing the idea that all things are made from earth resources which everyone has the responsibility to ensure its sustainability for many generations to come. We also introduce the concept of 雅量 'yaliang' (sustainably elegant living) to encourage the practice of sustainable living that would not compromise the quality of life. The third concept is Common Good. The reason for all these programme is to promote the awareness of unselfishness be more considerate to other. The Eco Art Festival shall comprise of all three elements.

We have taken a bold step to organise five dance performances, eco design workshop and tree planting activity under the umbrella of Eco Art Festival. We work on a very tight schedule and short promotional time frame and would like to thank the support from sponsors, project partners and employees to make it a success.

We look forward to make better progress, create greater impact for the Eco Art Festival 2017.

Second activity – Eco Sense Eco Design Workshop

We have the pleasure to have Associate Prof. Chang Hsiang Tang from National Kaohsiung First University of Science & Technology Taiwan to conduct the Eco Design Workshop 1.0 themed "To experience the Art of Life through Eco Design" on 18 November 2016 (Friday) at Networking Lounge@ Resource Centre, Technology Park Malaysia (TPM) . There were a total of 24 participants from various background including lecturer & students from local university, corporate sector, NGOs.

Third activity – Walk & Plant Tree Planting

After five years, we were back to Forest Research Institute Malaysia (FRIM) for tree planting activity. This time we are planting five types of fruit trees i.e. Kundang, Kasai, Rambai, Asam Gelugor and Durian Hutan. The participants walk around 3km towards the planting site and we have created a live art gallery for them. Participants were greeted with poster and live performers along the journey. Participants were also given a piece of wish card to write and plant their wish together with the seedlings. This echoes our tree planting's theme "growing the seeds of hope". Besides, tree planting, we also organise installation art to create awareness to the public. The exhibits will be available from 24 Nov to 25 Dec 2016.

Eco Art Festival

We kick started the Eco Art Festival 2016 this year with a believe that the integration of the environmental science and art can play a greater role to open people's mind and create emotional engagement for the environment protection agenda. Eco Art Festival aims to promote the value of 雅量 'yaliang' (sustainably elegant living) for the common good of environment, community and economy through the power of art. The objectives are as follow:

- To create awareness on natural resources with the integration of art appreciation
- To engage professionals in sustainable management and art, and together work towards increase attention and knowledge of sustainably elegant living
- To network with existing programme nationally or internationally for common good through CSR activities, fund raising activities

There are all together three main activities:

First activity - Black & White @ Variation

There was around 800 audiences attended the contemporary dance performance held on 10,11,12,13 & 16 November 2016 at Pentas 1, KLPAC. Most of the audience was moved by the finale which show case the polluted environment which is suffocating us now.
