

Nets Printwork awarded ESG POSITIVE IMPACT AWARDS 2022

Nets Printwork awarded Prime Minister's Hibiscus Award 2021/2022

In His Own Words

Message from the Managing Director

We are glad to have bag two more awards i.e. first Environment, Social and Governance (ESG) Positive Impact Awards organised by The Star Media Group and partners, second the Prime Minister's Hibiscus Award (PMHA) in June 2023. While we will continue to improve our ESG performance, we would also like to thanks the employees especially the sustainability team.

The participation in these awards help us to review our strength and weaknesses, risk and opportunities in our sustainability journey. We also glad to see more companies embark on sustainability journey during the award ceremony session.

It is imperative that we demonstrate commitment towards sustainability, ESG and digital transformation. The target towards net zero is challenging for all, we require concerted action and collaboration with our partners to achieve the target together by 2050.

Speech by Sustainability Director

This year, we are experiencing the post covid era and many physical activities started to take place, starting from the festive celebrations, award presentation ceremony and design school plant tour.

This year we have the opportunities to participate in the State Wesak Celebration, and we assist through our eco printing and other sustainable solution including green event carbon footprint calculation to turn it into a Green Wesak. Besides using compostable food ware, the printed material is using FSC certified paper, the food waste is turn into compost.

The new batch of Taiwan interns is also coming in July. There will be eight of them, the largest delegation so far. We look forward to more synergy in product and service innovation.

Ms Teh Soo Tyng
Director of Sustainability
